

NO MONEY TRUST CAN EXIST, SAYS MORGAN TO PUJO COMMITTEE

King of Financiers Emphasizes Statement With a Vigorous Rap of His Fist on the Arm of His Chair

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—"There could be no money trust. All the banks and all the money in Christendom could not control money. The question of control is personal as to money and credits," declared J. Pierpont Morgan today to the house money trust investigating committee.

The financier was led up to his answer by the questioning of Samuel Untermyer, counsel for the committee, who asked Mr. Morgan if he "did not feel his vast power."

Mr. Morgan answered that he did not admit he had vast power and did not feel it.

Once when the lawyer and the witness got into a discussion of competition and combination, Mr. Morgan said:

"I'd rather have combination than competition. I like a little competition, but I like combination better. Control is the important thing, without it you can't do a thing, but no one man could monopolize money. One man might get control of railroads or merchandise, but not money and credit."

RAPS CHAIR WITH FIST

Mr. Morgan's declaration that there "could be no money trust," emphasized by a vigorous bang with his fist on the arm of his chair, came toward the end of the committee's morning session, when the financier testified as to the relations of the house of Morgan with several great corporations.

WOMAN RE-LOADS GUN AND FIRES AGAIN INTO VICTIM

Mrs. A. L. Lynn Sends Seven Bullets Into Body of Aged Frank Hightower

DUBLIN, Ga., Dec. 18.—No developments have occurred to throw new light on the shooting and killing of Mr. Frank Hightower by Mrs. A. J. Lynn yesterday at the home of the Lynns, eight miles from Dublin. Mrs. Lynn claims she was attacked by Mr. Hightower and killed him to protect herself. Mr. Hightower's friends do not credit this statement as true.

Mr. Hightower was a seventy-three year old man of excellent reputation. Mrs. Lynn was an adopted daughter of Mr. Hightower's brother-in-law. He had known Mrs. Lynn from girlhood and treated her as though she was one of the family.

Yesterday he had gone to the house of the Lynns, carrying to them some flour and lard. No one was in the house at the time of the shooting except a three-year-old child. Seven shots were fired in the body of the deceased, four in the head and three in the body. The shots seem to have been fired from the back of the head. The fact that seven bullets were found in the body shows that it was necessary to reload the pistol and fire again into the body after the pistol had been emptied.

Mrs. Lynn then called a neighbor and told him she had killed Mr. Hightower to defend herself. Mr. Hightower was father of Mr. J. B. Hightower, chief of police of Dublin. Mrs. Lynn is the wife of A. L. Lynn. Mr. Lynn was a blacksmith in Dublin until he began farming last spring. No arrests have been made. Mrs. Lynn is in a delicate condition.

TEMPERANCE WORKERS LEAVING WASHINGTON

Return to Homes to Raise $500,000 to Support Shepard-Kenyon Bill

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—Nearly 400 temperance workers from throughout the United States who have been here to urge the passage of legislation prohibiting shipments of liquor into "dry" territory, scattered for their homes today to work toward the raising of a sum of $500,000 in yearly installments of $100,000 for the inauguration of a nationwide crusade.

The workers had been in session two days, the conference closing with a banquet last night at which Senator Kenyon, of Iowa, author of the legislation sought, was the principal speaker.

THOMASVILLE VOTERS NAME CITY OFFICERS

THOMASVILLE, Ga., Dec. 19.—The official count in the municipal primary held here yesterday shows the following result: For mayor, Roscoe Luke; aldermen, Ardis MacDougal, L. H. Jergler, F. D. Phillips, B. F. Herring, M. R. Elder, W. B. Hamblenton, A. Bennett, W. E. Beverly; for city treasurer, J. H. H. Mitchell; city clerk, A. A. Riley; marshal, A. B. Milton; sexton, T. J. Franklin. Three members for board of education, J. T. Culppepper, B. H. Wright, W. B. Cochran. These officials will all serve for two years.

COURT'S ADVICE ASKED ON PACIFIC DISSOLUTION

The Road's Counsel Wants to Know Union's Jurisdiction Over Southern's Stock

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—Dissolution of the Union-Southern Pacific merger again came before the supreme court today when attorneys for the Union Pacific and the government joined in a request that the court determine at once what right the Union Pacific's stockholders should have in the disposal of the Southern Pacific stock held by the Union Pacific in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law.

The railroad attorneys explained to the court that they considered the only practicable method for the stock to be distributed without irreparable injury would be for the Union Pacific company to offer the shares to its own shareholders, pro rata, according to the amount of their holdings; for purchase at a fair price, or to distribute the same as a dividend to the holders of its stock entitled to a dividend. They declared that the attorney general was opposed to such a plan.

The offering for sale upon the open market of the Union Pacific's holdings of Southern Pacific's shares aggregating $126,650,000 would not only inflict great injustice and irreparable damage upon the Union Pacific and its shareholders, but also would cause a serious financial disturbance by oversupplying the market demand for securities of this character and consequently depressing the price not merely of the Southern Pacific shares owned by the Union Pacific but also of the shares of Southern Pacific held by others, and even of the securities of other corporations dealt in on the market, during and for a long period after the offering of these Southern Pacific shares for sale, declared the attorneys.

The railroad attorneys argued that if the Southern Pacific's stock owned by the Union Pacific were distributed among all Union Pacific shareholders, the so-called controlling interests would get only 4 per cent of the total capitalization of the Southern Pacific company, or an "infinite small portion."

UNCROWNED KING BURIED IN TOMB OF ANCESTORS

Prince Regent Luitpold's Body Rests Beside King Maximilian II

MUNICH, Bavaria, Dec. 19.—The body of the late Prince Regent Luitpold, of Bavaria, was carried this morning to its sepulchre beneath the altar of the Church of the Theatines, in this city, and laid beside that of King Maximilian II.

The German emperor, the king of the Belgians, the king of Saxony, Archduke Francis Ferdinand, heir apparent of Austria-Hungary, and a number of princes representing the royal houses of Europe followed the coffin in the procession which passed through streets crowded with mourners.

All the time the procession was on way to the church and also during the service, minute guns were fired and church bells throughout the city were tolled.

Although during his life the aged prince regent had declined to adopt the royal title, because, as he said, the real king was still living but unable to rule on account of insanity, Bavaria treated the dead Luitpold with kingly honors. The funeral was conducted with all the ritual employed in the case of Bavarian sovereigns, including the escort attended in medieval costumes, while the coffin was accompanied by cowed candle bearers.

The heart of the dead regent was embalmed separately and interred with those of many preceding Bavarian rulers at the village of Alt-Oetting, where it reposes in a silver case beside the famous shrine of the Virgin Mary.

COCHRAN AND MARCHMAN ARE ACQUITTED BY COURT

Two of Principals in Cochran-Cleghorn Feud Are Exonerated of All Charges

ASHBURN, Ga., Dec. 19.—W. J. Cochran and Lee Marchman, brother-in-law and brother of Minnie Marchman, whose death over a month ago is alleged to have started the feud between her relatives and Tan Cleghorn and his brothers, have been exonerated of all charges following the recent shooting episode on the streets of Ashburn. Cochran and Marchman immediately surrendered after the duel between them and the Cleghorn brothers, in which Cochran claimed that he had fired the shots that wounded Tan and Marion Cleghorn.

Cochran and Marchman made bail for the charge of assault and battery and shooting on the streets. When the case was called in police court the two men were cleared of all charges.

Tan Cleghorn and his brother, Marion, who were wounded, are both reported to have recovered from their injuries. Nine of the Cleghorn boys are now under police bonds.

THREE ARE KILLED WHEN BOILER BURSTS

EDGEFIELD, S. C., Dec. 18.—Three men were killed and several badly scalded when a boiler in the Burton sawmill, near this place, exploded late today. William Burton, owner of the plant, is said to have been fatally scalded.

CHRISTMAS CHECKS ASSURED TEACHERS ALL OVER GEORGIA

Railroads and Corporations Pay Taxes So Rapidly State Is Enabled to Pay 10 Per Cent Immediately

So fast and in such large amounts did the taxes of the railroads and other corporations roll into the state treasury Thursday that Treasurer W. J. Speer announced that any doubt which has hitherto existed concerning the state's ability to pay its teachers a 10 per cent installment on their 1912 salaries before Christmas had been removed.

Warrants for the 10 per cent portion of the teachers' salaries, aggregating $250,000, will be drawn Friday and immediately mailed to the various county officials. It will thus be possible for the county school authorities to make their distributions within two or three days.

BACK SALARIES SOON. At present the state is behind about $2,100,000 on the teachers' salaries, less than 20 per cent of the 1912 appropriation having been paid. It is expected that by the first of February the entire obligation will have been settled.

Checks for hundreds of thousands of dollars, representing the 1912 taxes of railroads and other corporations, and several Georgia counties, came into the state treasury.

BIG CHECKS RECEIVED. The largest check—$119,985.00—was paid in by the Central of Georgia railroad. This check not only represented the taxes on the assessed valuation of that road's main line and branches in Georgia, but included those on the Southwestern railroad, and the Augusta and Savannah railroad, both of which are leased and operated by the Central. Last year the Central's taxes amounted to $115,214.

Other railroads which paid Thursday were Southern railway, $39,550.21; against $36,550.20 in 1911; Seaboard, $63,270.32 as against $59,171.70 in 1911; Wrightsville and Tennille, $4,465.43; Georgia, Florida and Alabama, $4,118.60; Louisville and Wadley, $240.72; and Wadley Southern, $1,944.34. The Ocean Steamship company paid $12,260.35.

FRIDAY LAST DAY. Taxes from a number of counties were also received Thursday. The last day for paying state taxes into the treasury is Friday. It is believed by Treasurer Speer that several hundred thousand dollars will be received on that day, and that the tax money will come in very rapidly for the next few days.

Can Give Vocational Training to Children Without Raising Taxes

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—Vocational training in the public schools can be undertaken not only without cost to the taxpayer but may be made a source of actual profit, according to Commissioner Claxton, of the federal bureau of education, today. In making a plea for the extension of industrial education, Dr. Claxton cited the experience of industrial classes in the schools of Gary, Ind., in the past year. They showed a profit through the work turned out by the pupils of $875.43 over all expenses.

"This is real value, too," said Dr. Claxton, "for the pupils made articles that were needed in the schools. If they had not made them in the school, the authorities would have had to purchase them in open market at a total price of $7,000 or $8,000."

The profits returned were divided among three classes: That in printing earned for the schools, $175 each; cabinet workers made $483.48, and the painting department $246.52.

HYATT KILLS WOODWARD AS RESULT OF FEUD

ANNISTON, Ala., Dec. 19.—Through the employment of Judge S. W. Tate, of this city, to assist in the prosecution when the case comes to trial, news has just been received in Anniston of a fatal affray near Hightower, Cleburne county, south of here, Sunday afternoon, in which Lem Hyatt is said to have shot and instantly killed Charley Woodward.

The two men are said to have been enemies for some time and they had a dispute Sunday afternoon while passing one another, each in his own buggy, on a public highway. Hyatt pulled a revolver, it is averred, and fired twice, one of the bullets striking Woodward over the left eye and causing instant death. Friends of the two men witnessed the tragedy, according to the account received here.

ADVANCE IN LICENSE TO INCREASE WEDDINGS?

JACKSON, Ga., Dec. 19.—Although this is leap year the girls have had an opportunity of evening up scores, Cupid seems to be falling to do his duty in the good county of Butts. Ordinary Ham reports the sale of marriage licenses is considerably behind that of former years. Now that the rice of licenses are to be raised with the first of the year, it is thought there may be some early shopping along this line. Though a good many of the aers will have to be sold during the next few days to even the sales of previous years.

LITERACY IMMIGRATION BILL PASSES THE HOUSE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—The house today passed the Burnett literacy test immigration bill, 178 to 62. The measure, a substitute for the senate Dillingham bill, would bar from the United States immigrants over sixteen years old, unable to read, except those proving to have immigrated on account of religious persecution at home.

HABERSHAM FARMERS GUARD AGAINST ATTACKS

Charred Paper and Wood Are Found Under Home That Was Target for Shots

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) CORNELIA, Ga., Dec. 19.—The discovery of charred paper and pine wood under the house of William Harper, near Mr. Alry, which was the target for bullets Monday night by a band of unidentified marauders, has led to the placing of guards and pickets around the home. Officials believe that the attempted burning was the work of negroes, and not the result of an alleged feud between mountaineers and farmers.

The homes of Harper and J. B. Trotter, a neighbor, have been the objects of several attacks. Trotter's home has been visited five times in the last few nights. Shots have been fired and rocks hurled at Trotter's house.

Shots fired by a son of Trotter frightened away the crowd the last time, one of the marauders leaving a blood-stained hat behind him.

The "crowds" afterward visited Harper's home, which they attempted to shoot up and burn. A member of Harper's family again frightened away the crowd, but when Harper and Trotter went in the yard they were met by a volley of shots and stones and were compelled to run for their lives.

Trotter and Harper have both received many threatening letters, the former ordered Trotter to leave or suffer the consequences. This letter is alleged to have been signed by five negroes as follows: Ben Cottrah, Robert Ingram, Tom Tannard, T. J. Jones and Pink Jones.

The damp weather alone is believed to have prevented the firing of Harper's home. The entire neighborhood is in a state of excitement and if the guilty parties are caught it is believed they will be in imminent danger.

SUFFRAGETTE ARMY CUT DOWN TO ONLY THREE

All But Three Desert Ranks in Long Cross-Country Tramp

(By Associated Press.) PEEKSKILL, N. Y., Dec. 19.—A steady downpour greeted the suffragette pilgrims today when they prepared to resume their march to Albany with a message to Governor Sulzer. They had before them a sixteen-mile walk to Fishkill, the longest day's tramp of the journey thus far.

Mrs. Olive Schultze, the official scout of the expedition, who motored to Albany and back recently, reported officially that she had found "much deep mud." Nothing daunted, however, "General" Rosalie G. Jones, with her two surviving followers, and Mrs. Jessie Stubbs, who rejoined the ranks last night, announced that it was "Albany, if it takes all winter."

Just before the start Mrs. Stubbs issued a deft to all anti-suffragettes here and in Albany to meet her in joint debate. Entertainment at luncheon was promised the marchers when they reached Garrison today, and in their honor tonight the suffragettes of Fishkill will give a reception.

Business engagements forced Alphonse Major, the "quartermaster" of the expedition, to desert today, and a picturesque farm wagon replaced his automobile as a baggage conveyance.

W. H. Vickers Dead

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) JACKSON, Ga., Dec. 19.—At the age of eighty-two years, W. H. Vickers, said to be the oldest white man in Butts county, died at his home in Iron Springs district Monday night. He is survived by two children, Mrs. T. W. Edwards, of Jackson, and Miss Ollie Vickers and one sister, Mrs. Prude Kinard.

HELP MAKE IT TRUE!

HALF A MILLION DOLLARS IN CHICKENS AT AUDITORIUM

Neither Oscar Hammerstein Nor Gus Edwards Ever Gathered Such a Collection as Is on Exhibition at Poultry Show

Half a million dollars' worth of chickens have come to roost at the auditorium.

Neither Oscar Hammerstein nor Gus Edwards ever gathered such a collection.

Finish your Christmas shopping at Five Points, go two blocks down Edgewood avenue, another block up Gilmer, and a sight to remember awaits you.

Forty-seven hundred chickens, of forty-seven varieties, twenty of which are new even to fanciers, fill every inch of the auditorium.

From entrance to the rear wall of the building are chickens, chickens, chickens—4,700 of them worth not a penny less than $500,000.

Great, heavy birds, fill one row of coops; sleek, dainty fowls another; queer little bantams with the look of Christmas toys occupy a third.

Some are of the green black that shimmers as with polish; others are snow white; others are of astonishing blends of colors.

Every size, every hue, every variety is housed in the auditorium. Two other chicken shows have been larger, and only these two. Put them aside, and the exhibition at the auditorium is the most important display of chickens that fanciers of the United States have ever held.

But it is more than a chicken show. These birds of half a million dollars' value are as beautiful as the shiny, satiny blue bloods of the tanbark. They invite as much praise for their fine looks as the blue ribbon winners of the horse show.

They are of as much interest to the casual visitor as to the fancier. In many ways, one who is without expert knowledge finds the show more pleasurable than another who regards the birds critically.

BIBB TO IMPROVE LINK IN NATIONAL HIGHWAY

County Begins Campaign to Better All Roads Out of Macon

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) MACON, Ga., Dec. 19.—The county commissioners of Bibb will likely have the Lorane road leading from Macon covered with a bed of gravel from Macon to Lorane station on the Central railroad, a distance of about twenty miles.

The road is a part of the national highway and the commissioners are desirous of having the leading roadways throughout the county put in the best shape possible. They have decided to make their first expenditure on the national highway from the county line to Macon.

The cost of graveling the roadbed will likely be about $4,000. The gravel in question is after the style of a macadam road and is to be gotten from near Augusta. The proposition is not yet fully decided on, but will probably be definitely settled by the board after the holidays.

FOUR ARE SHOT AS POLICE SIEGE HOUSE OF BARRICADED MAN

Adam Bohler, After Killing Wife and Shooting Others, Is Slain by Memphis Detectives Following 8-Hour Siege

(By Associated Press.) MEMPHIS, Tenn., Dec. 19.—Adam J. Bohler, who held a squad of fifty policemen and detectives at bay for eight hours this morning, was shot and killed shortly before noon by city detectives who forced their way into Bohler's stronghold in a downtown rooming house after the man had been partially overcome by the fumes of formaldehyde forced into the room through holes cut in the wall and flooring.

Boehler and the police, the latter stationed at half a dozen points of vantage in neighboring buildings, exchanged an intermittent fire throughout the morning, while others of the attacking party succeeded in reaching a floor above that on which the man was entrenched. Holes were bored through the floor and quantities of formaldehyde were poured into the room. When all appeared quiet in the room, where Bohler was holding forth, detectives stormed the barricaded door and in an exchange of shots Bohler's body was riddled with bullets.

Throngs of persons crowded the streets in the immediate vicinity of the building, and did not disperse until the final act in the tragedy occurred.

Boehler, who came to Memphis from Indiana in a houseboat, attacked his wife, from whom he was separated, in a boarding house where she had apartments with her four-year-old daughter. Other occupants of the house heard the two scuffling, but the only witness to the killing was the child who met officers who had been summoned with the announcement that "papa has killed mamma." The woman was found lying on the floor, her throat slashed. She died within a few moments. According to the child, Bohler, after cutting the woman's throat, deliberated a moment, washed his hands and left before the policemen arrived.

HOCKIN PICTURED AS "IAGO" OF DYNAMITERS

District Attorney Declares That Man Was Anxious to Get Rid of Pals

(By Associated Press.) INDIANAPOLIS, Dec. 19.—Stories which the government charges Herbert S. Hockin told while acting as the "Iago" of the dynamite conspiracy were related by District Attorney James W. Noel in continuing his argument to the jury at the trial of the forty accused "bomb plotters" today.

"In betraying all with whom he had to deal, Hockin never told the same story twice," said Mr. Noel.

"Still this man, Iago, of the conspiracy, whispering a different story in each ear was one of the originators of the scheme to blow up non-union jobs by dynamite. He was ambitious and wanted to get out of the way those who were opposed to him. Orle E. McManigal and J. B. McNamara had complained that Hockin was withholding part of the money for allowed for each explosion. The dynamiters were about to ditch him, so Hockin decided to betray them."

140 KILLED IN BATTLE AT HUEJUGUILLA, MEXICO

Rebels Take Town, According to Reports, and Commit Outrages

(By Associated Press.) GUADALAJARA, Mexico, Dec. 19.—One hundred rebels and forty rural guards and towns people were killed in a fierce battle at Huejuguilla yesterday. The town was sacked by the rebels who committed many outrages.

A force of 600 rebels, commanded by General Cheche Campos, yesterday morning attacked Huejuguilla, Jalisco, near the boundary of Zacatecas.

Fifty rural guards and armed citizens held them off for thirty hours until the stock of ammunition was exhausted.

Then the rebels forced their way and committed every kind of outrage, according to reports.

Some hours later reinforcements of federal troops arrived and drove the rebels out after killing a large number of them.

MAYOR CHAPPELL URGES CITY TO BUY WATERWORKS

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) COLUMBUS, Ga., Dec. 19.—Strongly advocating municipal ownership of waterworks and stressing the needs for more equity in city taxation by the exposing of the "tax dodgers," Mayor L. H. Chappell sent his annual message to the city council last night, which was read with unusual interest. The mayor recommended the abolition of the office of assistant city engineer and made many timely suggestions regarding the operation of the city's affairs during the ensuing year. He reviews the progress made by the city during the year just closing, pointing out the rapid developments of the past twelve months and commenting quite freely on the numerous permanent improvements made.

The finances of the city are discussed at some length and the mayor deprecates the fact that the expenditures of the year exceeded the income by over $13,000, and he warns against appropriations in excess of the city's income during the coming year.
